

CONTENTS

Preface	1
Chapter 1: Basic Scriptural Principles	2
1. Introductory remarks	2
1.1 Ongoing theological reflection	2
1.2 The Bible is the church's sole yardstick	3
1.3 The Bible must be interpreted in terms of its own character	3
1.4 The Bible focuses on God and his Kingdom	3
2. The church: its nature and its calling	4
2.1 The church is a unique creation of God	4
2.2 The essence of the church is determined by the Word	5
2.3 The church is a fellowship of faith, confession and worship	6
2.4 The church is a missionary fellowship	7
2.5 The church is a diaconal (serving) fellowship	8
2.6 The church is a universal fellowship	9
2.7 The church is a reconciled fellowship	10
2.8 The church is a window to God's imminent new world	10
2.9 The church is one in the Triune God	11
3. The church and group relationships	14
The Biblical view concerning man and human relationships	14
3.1 Race and nation in Scripture	14
3.2 The relationship between church, nation and nations	17
3.3 Biblical-ethical guidelines for inter-personal and group relationships	19
3.4 The church's responsibility with regard to group relationships	30
CHAPTER 2: SOME PRACTICAL IMPLICATIONS	33
1. Introductory remarks	33
2. The Dutch Reformed Church and the ecclesiastical situation in Southern Africa	33
2.1 The Dutch Reformed Church as part of the people of God	33
2.2 The Dutch Reformed Church and the family of Dutch Reformed Churches	33
2.3 The three Afrikaans Reformed Churches	34
2.4 Ecumenical relationships	35
2.5 Accessibility to the Dutch Reformed Church Structure	35

3.	The Dutch Reformed Church and some practical matters	35
3.1	Church membership	35
3.2	Licensing and eligibility of ministers of the Gospel	36
3.3	Visitors and joint gatherings	36
4.	The task of the Dutch Reformed Church in Southern Africa	36
4.1	The Dutch Reformed Church and missionary work	36
4.2	The Dutch Reformed Church and the ministry of compassion	37
5.	The Dutch Reformed Church and other spheres of life	38
5.1	The Dutch Reformed Church and the Afrikaner people	38
5.2	The Dutch Reformed Church and political models	38
5.3	The Dutch Reformed Church and the government	40
5.4	The Dutch Reformed Church and society	42
5.5	The Dutch Reformed Church and marriage in a multicultural society	44
5.6	The Dutch Reformed Church and education and training	45
6.	Concluding remarks	45